Ike Appeals To Israel After New Talks Fail

Dulles Proposal For Withdrawal Again Rejected

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—President Eisenhower issued today a new appeal to Israel to withdraw its troops from Egypt after an urgent diplomatic conference in Washington failed to end the deadlock.

The President's appeal came from his vacation headquarters at Thomasville, Ga. Shortly thereafter Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban emerged from Secretary of State Dulles' Washington home, saying there would be further talks.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters at Thomasville that Israel again had rejected, in effect, a plan proposed by Dulles last Monday for withdrawal of Israeli troops from disputed territory.

Israel 'Persists' In Occupation
Eisenhower reported failure of today's Dulles-Eban talks in another way. The President said: "Israel persists in its occupation of Egyptian territory around the entrance of the Gulf of Aqaba and of the Gaza Strip."

Eisenhower, in a statement of nearly 1,000 words, said the United States believes Israel has been provided "with the maximum assurances it can reasonably expect at this juncture, or that can be reconciled with fairness to others."

The President went on to say: "Accordingly, the United States has renewed its plea to Israel to withdraw in accordance with the repeated demand of the United Nations and to rely upon the resoluteness of all friends of justice to bring about a state of affairs which will conform to the principles of justice and of international law and serve impartially the proper interests of all in the area. U. S. Offers 'Greater Security'."

"This, the United States believes, should provide a greater source of security for Israel than an occupation continued contrary to the overwhelming judgment of the world community."

The President said this country "will strive to remain true to, and support, the United Nations in its efforts to sustain the purposes and principles of the (U. N.) charter as the world's best hope of peace."

Eban was completely noncommittal after his hour-long conference with Dulles, but Hagerty said in Thomasville that the ambassador's reply to the U. S. plan was "negative."

Israeli Foreign Minister Golda Meir told a nationwide television audience that Israel would withdraw its forces from the Gulf of Aqaba area within an hour if the United States would guarantee and "protect the rights of all powers" to send ships into the gulf.

Other Possible Solutions
This was one of four possible solutions she suggested on ABC-TV "College News Conference."

Mrs. Meir also suggested the Aqaba problem might be solved by:

1. An "agreement" signed by Israel, Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Jordan guaranteeing free navigation of the Aqaba gulf for all countries.

2. A decision by the United Nations that it would maintain U. N. emergency forces along the Aqaba gulf until freedom of navigation is certain for all vessels.

3. A "peace treaty" between Israel and Egypt ending their long hostility.

Truman Turns Down Greece, Turkey Trip

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman has turned down invitations to visit Greece and Turkey next month. He said other commitments make the trip impossible.

This was announced today by the State Department, which reported that President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles regret the former chief executive's decision not to go.

Next month will bring the 10th anniversary of a U. S. government decision to assist Greece and Turkey in their resistance to Soviet pressures. That decision marked the beginning of large-scale U. S. aid to many countries threatened by communism.

Truman Laid Down Policy

Since the policy was laid down by President Truman it has been known, especially in its application to Greece and Turkey, as the Truman Doctrine.

The Greek and Turkish governments sent word to the State Department that they would like to have the former President take part in a 10th anniversary commemoration of the doctrine.

Secretary Dulles talked the matter over with President Eisenhower. He then got in touch with Truman last week and said that both the President and he would be pleased if Truman could accept the Greek and Turkish invitations.

Significant Action

The Dulles action was significant as much for its domestic political as for its diplomatic meaning. It indicated that Eisenhower might be prepared to take a more friendly attitude toward his Democratic predecessor. It started speculation of an improvement in relations between the two men which have been decidedly cold since the 1952 presidential campaign.

The White House press secretary, James C. Hagerty, told newsmen covering Eisenhower's vacation quarters at Thomasville, Ga. yesterday that the President and Secretary Dulles "would look with a great deal of favor" on a visit by Truman to Greece and Turkey.

Democrats Aim Call For Rights Action At South

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 17 (AP)—The Democratic National Advisory Council prodded Southern Democrats in a resolution released today to enact pending civil rights legislation at this session of Congress.

Approved at a closed session yesterday, it was the first policy expression by the newly formed adjunct of the Democratic National Committee—a group heavily dominated by the so-called Northern liberals.

The resolution calls upon the Democratic congressional majority generally to take prompt action to put the party's platform pledges into effect.

It was clear, however, that the declaration was directed primarily at Southern members who have managed to obstruct civil rights legislation in the past.

Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler told newsmen the resolution was opposed only by Mrs. Lennard Thomas, of Montgomery, Ala., an alternate member of the Democratic National Committee's Executive Committee.

Butler said the only two other Southerners on the council voted for the resolution. They were National Committeewoman Camille F. Gravel Jr., of Alexandria, La., and National Committeewoman Mrs. Benjamin Bryan Everett, of Palmyra, N.C.

Americans Earned, Spent And Saved More In 1956

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—Americans in 1956 earned more, spent more and saved more than in any other year in history, the Commerce Department reported today.

The gross national product—the market value of all goods produced and services rendered—was $412 billion dollars. That was an increase of 22 billion dollars or 5½ per cent over 1955. Roughly half the increase represented rising prices, the department said, and the balance was an expansion in the volume of goods and services.

The 1956 figures showed a steady increase throughout the year and in the final quarter the year national product was running at an annual rate of 424 billion dollars.

Personal incomes for the year totalled $325,200,000,000, personal consumption (expenditures) were $265,700,000,000 and personal savings were $20,900,000,000, all new highs. The figures for 1955 were incomes of $36,100,000,000, expenditures of $254,000,000,000 and savings of $16,600,000,000.

The nation's payroll of 239 billions, up 16 billions from 1955, accounted for the bulk of the gain in the national income total. Corporate profits were about the same as in 1955, after having risen sharply in the previous year. After taxes, 1956 profits were 21½ billions, compared with 21 billions in 1955 and 16½ billions in 1954.

Declines in automobile production and residential construction from 1955 to 1956 were "substantially outweighed" by expansions in most other markets, the department said.

Rep. M'Cormack Says 'Command' Split On Budget

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—House Democratic Leader McCormack said today Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey has "broken" with President Eisenhower on the new 72-billion-dollar national budget.

The Massachusetts lawmaker said Humphrey's public calls for budget cuts have set the secretary apart from Eisenhower and laid the President's foreign aid program open to severe slashes by Congress.

Humphrey last month urged Congress to cut the budget wherever it can without harming security or essential functions. But he declined to point out items that might be ripe for pruning. Eisenhower said later that Congress has a duty to trim where it can.

'Line Of Command Broken'

In a radio-television interview with Rep. Keating (R-NY) filmed for broadcast by Upstate New York stations, McCormack said: "Certainly the line of command is broken very badly, this great line of command we have heard about throughout the years."

"This budget is the highest peacetime budget in the history of our country," he added. "It violates promises made to the people, solemn promises made by the Republican administration."

The budget is for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

'Afraid' Of Big Cut In Aid

McCormack said Congress might cut nondefense fund requests by a half-billion dollars. But he said, "The only place we can make the sharp cut is in the field of foreign assistance."

If the foreign aid program were trimmed by one or two billion dollars, McCormack said, "President Eisenhower will vigorously oppose it and can thank Secretary Humphrey for bringing it about."

The Democratic leader added, "I don't like to consider such a sharp cut in the national interests of our country." But he said he is "afraid" this might happen.

Army To Fire Second IRBM

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—The Army may fire its second Intermediate Range Ballistic Missile before the end of this month.

There were reports today that a Jupiter missile is ready for mounting on a firing pad at the long-range test center on the Florida east coast.

From that base the Army launched its first missile last September, a firing which was described unofficially as having attained a distance of 3,000 miles. Under the Defense Department's specification for missiles, an Intermediate-Range Ballistic Missile need go only 1,500 miles.

The Army is proceeding with perfection of its IRBM despite a decision by Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson to assign all IRBMs to the Air Force when they are developed.

"The Air Force's own IRBM program came a cropper when it made its first test-firing attempt a few weeks ago. A Thor IRBM, developed by the Air Force, crashed in flames in the attempt to launch it from the Florida test center, which is operated at Patrick Air Force Base for use of all services.

The Army, in its second test firing, presumably will emphasize refinements in the Jupiter's guidance system and accuracy. The first test demonstrated that range is one of the more easily solved problems.

French Report 146 Algeria Rebels Slain

ALGIERS, Feb. 17 (AP)—French military headquarters today reported 146 nationalist rebels killed in widely separated actions in Algeria.

Headquarters said 71 were killed in the Oran Department in the west, including 41 slain when French forces surrounded a rebel band on a mountain near Tlemcen. The report said 75 rebels were killed in the Constantine Department of eastern Algeria.

Agreement Ratification Held Routine

Union Leadership, New York Shippers Reach Settlement

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 (AP)—The striking International Longshoremen's Assn. tonight reached a "meeting of minds" with shippers. The announcement signaled the end of a five-day walkout of 45,000 dockworkers from Maine to Virginia.

Louis Waldman, chief ILA counsel, said "We are glad to announce we have reached a meeting of minds between the ILA wage scale committee and the New York Shipping Assn."

"This means that, subject to union ratification, the strike is over."

With the ILA's top leadership recommending acceptance, ratification by the rank and file was considered routine.

The strike last Tuesday actually was a resumption of a nine-day walkout in November. That was interrupted under the Taft-Hartley law provision for an 80-day cooling off period.

Never Very Far Apart

At no time were the union and employers very far from agreement. Even as the strike deadline neared on Tuesday, negotiators were saying that 93 per cent of the issues had been settled.

Wages had been worked out in advance of the strike. Both sides agreed to a 32-cent hourly wage increase over three years. The present basic wage is $2.48 an hour.

The negotiators haggled over a number of issues such as when a longshoreman is eligible for paid vacation and holiday pay, or whether porters should get a full day's pay if hired late in a shift.

The stoppage cost business interests in this great port alone an estimated three million dollars a day.

The final settlement came after a series of caucuses of top level union officials and urgent meetings with management negotiators.

Wage Group Stood By

Hopes of agreement took a sudden upward spurt when Alexander Chopin, counsel for the shippers, said "This could be the session that will end the trouble. If it doesn't nothing will."

Throughout most of the day the more than 100 members of the ILA's wage scale committee lounged in the corridors of the federal mediation offices, on call to act on an agreement if negotiators reached one.

The union announcement came at 9:20 p.m.

The strike, affecting ports as far north as Portland, Maine, and as far south as Hampton Roads, Va., was the latest in a series that has hit New York over a long period of years.

At the heart of this labor unrest on the waterfront has been the 64-year-old ILA.

Complicating the paralysis of the sprawling port was a current strike of tugboat crewmen that still is in progress.

Tank Purchase System Rapped

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—A Senate report said today that while modern tanks are a high priority defense item, no funds to buy them had been asked of Congress for the past three years.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) as chairman of the Preparedness Investigating subcommittee, said "continuity of tank production is in jeopardy."

The report said the Army, instead of getting new appropriations to buy tanks, has scraped around for unspent funds to make tank purchases on a hit and miss basis.

"The subcommittee concludes that, despite the Army requirements for tanks, it lacks either the funds or the authority to consummate a tank contract," the report said.

"The responsibility for the delays either with the Army, the procurement agency for the Department of Defense, or the Department of Defense, the source for funding authorization."

Both Secretary of Defense Wilson and Secretary of the Army Brucker were requested to supply the Senate watchdog group with detailed reasons and explanations for these decisions or lack of action.

Seven Of Family Perish In Blaze

CENTERVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 17 (AP)—Seven members of Adolph Shelby's family perished early today when flames destroyed their six-room frame home just outside the Centerville city limits.

Shelby, 50, was rescued by a neighbor, and his oldest son, Wallace, 12, was spending the night with an uncle, but his wife and his other six children died in the fire.

The dead were Mrs. Shelby, 46, Ruby Lee, 28, Mary Fay, 20, Jo Ann, 16, Ruth, 13, Danny, 9, and Elaine, 6.

Shelby, an unemployed former night watchman at a phosphate firm here, said he did not know how the fire started.

Josef Hofmann, Famed Pianist, Dies At Age 81

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 17 (AP)—Josef Hofmann, famed pianist, died last night in a Los Angeles nursing home. He was 81.

He had lived in Los Angeles since 1930.

Hofmann first came to the attention of the musical world as a Polish child prodigy who began to perform on the piano at the age of 5.

He came to the United States in 1887 at the age of 11 and astounded the musical world with his artistry.

In addition to being a concert pianist, he was a composer, teacher, director of a conservatory and an inventor of automobile accessories.

On his first visit to this country, the boy Hofmann played 52 concerts before the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children put a halt to the tour.

New York philanthropist Alfred Corning Clark gave Hofmann's father $30,000 so the young genius could resume his musical education in Poland.

Hofmann, at 16, became the first and only pupil of celebrated Anton Rubenstein.

Queen, Duke Spend Night On Storm-Tossed Yacht

SETUBAL, Portugal, Feb. 17 (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II and the Duke of Edinburgh came ashore smiling for social rounds today after a rock and roll night aboard the gale-tossed yacht Britannia.

The Queen and her husband, reunited after a separation of more than four months—were pitched about as high winds whistled over the anchored yacht and white-capped waves sank about a dozen small fishing boats of Setubal villagers.

"It was a crazy, mixed-up night," said seaman Arnold Rocknall. "First the moon came out. Then a squall hit us and we rocked and rolled for hours."

Those 20 hours together after yesterday's reunion gave the Queen and her husband their first opportunity to discuss events that led up to reports of a royal rift.

Sen. Knowland Opposes Giving Aid To Poland

CHICAGO, Feb. 17 (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said today he will fight any Eisenhower administration move to give economic assistance to Poland and will oppose continuing military aid to Yugoslavia.

Knowland, the Senate's Republican leader, declared in a Lithuanian Independence Day speech prepared for delivery here:

"I shall oppose the taking of a single dollar from the overburdened American taxpayer to build the economic strength of any Communist country behind the Soviet Iron Curtain or to give military aid to any Communist state anywhere in the world."

'Not To Be Trusted'

Knowland said Wladyslaw Gomułka, first secretary of the Polish Communist party, and Poland's Communist government "are not to be trusted."

The California senator, regarded as a potential candidate for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination, placed himself squarely in opposition to the administration's invitation to Poland to negotiate for an American loan.

A Warsaw delegation is due here soon to seek 100 million dollars in credits to buy American cotton, farm and mining machinery, fats, oils and other products.

Election 'Farce' Cited

Knowland told a reporter in advance of his speech that he is opposed to giving the Gomułka government such assistance.

The possible granting of credits is the administration's followup to Eisenhower's implied offer to help a non-Soviet dominated government during the October revolt when Poland won a measure of independence from Moscow.

Knowland made it plain he does not believe Russian influence was reduced materially. He attacked what he called "the farce of Gomułka counterfeit elections" as Poland was insulted with on Sunday, Jan. 20, while Soviet troops still occupy that restless country.

Flames Roar Through Old Folks Home

Inmates, Visitors Perish As Building Reduced To Shell

WARRENTON, Mo., Feb. 17 (AP)—Fire whipped through an old folks home here today with lightning-like speed, trapping many inmates and leaving a death toll estimated at between 50 and 75.

Intense heat kept firemen and rescue workers from removing bodies from the smoldering ruins hours after the fire. Some of the bodies could be seen in the debris.

The operator of the home Woodrow O'Sullivan, said "probably 50 to 75 persons died." State highway patrolmen estimated the death toll at 65 or more and County Coroner F. H. Knigge said it runs "from 70 on up."

O'Sullivan said there were 149 patients and probably 50 to 75 visitors in the 2½ story brick building when the fire broke out.

Mrs. Esther Hill, Warren County health nurse, said 82 inmates had definitely been accounted for as having survived.

The flames spread so fast Mrs. Knigge, wife of the coroner, said it was all over in 10 or 15 minutes.

"I heard the screams and ran from my home to the building," she said. "By the time I got there 10 or 15 minutes later it was all over."

Rescuers Risk Lives

Firemen, townspeople and attendants risked their lives to carry many of the bedridden patients and injured from the flaming building in this east central town of 1,600.

Mrs. O'Sullivan was slightly injured in her fight to save inmates, she helped 10 persons out and when she saw she could not re-enter the home she and others laid mattresses on the ground and laid inmates to jump. Several jumped the 20 feet to safety.

O'Sullivan started the nursing home, which he called the Katie Jane, two years ago. He said patients ranged in age from 50 to 99 years. He said he had no idea what could have caused the flash fire.

"I've spent $30,000 trying to fix it up just to avoid something like this," O'Sullivan said.

O'Sullivan explained he had no heating stoves in the building and had heated it by steam from a powerhouse a block away.

Fire departments from nearby communities joined in the rescue work but as darkness fell only one body had been recovered. The fire was reported to have started about 3:45 p.m.

Firemen Pull Down Walls

Firemen pulled down the walls as the heat began to subside in an effort to get at the bodies within the brick shell.

The rescued were carried to a lawn outside of the building. A temporary morgue was set up in a three story building across the street.

At the height of the fire, the roof caved in. The fire destroyed both a main building and an annex.

A muffled explosion during the fire shot flames as high as 60 feet. Long smoke clouds could be seen as far as 30 miles away.

State patrolman H. L. Bobolewski said it probably would be tomorrow before the casualty list would be completed.

A crowd of 1,000 quickly gathered and watched as firemen from Warrenton and nearby communities attempted unsuccessfully to cope with the blaze.

The patrol said it would be "an all-night job" in determining how many persons perished in the disaster.

There were conflicting reports on how many inmates were in the home when the fire started. One report said 194 persons, another 150.

The brick building formerly housed the Central Wesleyan College which was closed in 1941. It was turned into an old folks home two years ago.

The fire was reported to have started in a hallway on the first floor just off a dormitory where church services were being held.

Emergency supplies of blood were rushed from St. Louis, 60 miles east of here, to the Warrenton, Mo., hospital where many of the injured were taken. Others were taken to a hospital at nearby Troy.

Diphtheria Epidemic

BERLIN, Feb. 17 (AP)—The West Berlin newspaper Morgenpost said today a diphtheria epidemic has caused 19 deaths in the East German town of Potsdam, near Berlin.

Douglas, O'Mahoney Seek More Changes In Ike's Resolution

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—President to "undertake, in the general area of the Middle East, military assistance programs with any nation or group of nations of that area desiring such assistance."

He proposed that the resolution be amended to require the President to obtain agreements "as binding as possible" that the recipients of American arms would not use them for aggressive purposes.

The Senate is scheduled to start debate tomorrow on a rewritten version of a House-approved resolution authorizing President Eisenhower to dispense economic aid and to use troops, if he deems it necessary, to counter Communist aggression in the area.

Passage is expected in about 10 days. Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) said he thinks there will be fewer than 20 votes against the measure.

Douglas and O'Mahoney said in separate interviews they believe the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees overlooked some important points when they rewrote the resolution.

As approved by the committees, the principal section says that if the President determines the necessity thereof, the United States is "prepared" to use its armed forces to aid nations "requesting assistance against armed aggression from any country controlled by international communism."

O'Mahoney said he objects to an attached provision which says that the use of troops "shall be consonant with the treaty obligations of the United States and with the Charter of the United Nations."

The Wyoming senator said in his judgment, mention of the United Nations would raise a legal barrier against independent American action to meet aggression.

"We are not going to accomplish anything if we have to go to the United Nations and be guided there by the Russian veto," he declared. "This is a hullabaloo about nothing as long as that veto power is operative."

Douglas said he wants to put a no-aggression restriction in a part of the resolution authorizing the

Hungary Reds Disclose Plans For New Army

BUDAPEST, Feb. 17 (AP)—Hungary will get a new army under the tight control of the Communist party, the new high command announced today.

The new chief of staff is a colonel, Ferenc Ugrai. The head of the political department is a major general, Pal Ilku. An interview with the two men was published today in the official Communist organ Nepszabadsag.

"Party organizations in the army will have a greater say in the future," Gen. Ilku told the paper, "because they will be able to make their voices heard on the plans drafted by the commanders for entire units before those plans are issued as orders."

Said Col. Ugrai: "The main task of the Hungarian people's army will be to defend consistently, in fraternal alliance with the armies of the Socialist camp, the achievements of our people's democracy and to secure their development."

Hungary had an army of about 170,000 trained and equipped by the Russians, when the anti-Soviet revolt broke out last October. Many soldiers joined the revolt, or at least handed over their arms and disappeared. After the Russians crushed the revolt officers were taken back only if they signed a statement that the Russian intervention had been necessary. Many refused.

School officials said emergency measures will have to be worked out to continue classes for the 300 pupils enrolled at West Pittsburgh. The fire broke out while school was in weekend recess.

Firemen said the fire apparently started near a fuse box in the basement, spread up a ventilating shaft to the roof where brick winds fanned it.

It was the third major school fire reported in western Pennsylvania in recent weeks. The other two were in Pittsburgh.

There are 172 clocks in the British House of Commons.

Polio Reported Hitting Hardest At Young Adults

BALTIMORE, Feb. 17 (AP)—Polio, which formerly almost exclusively attacked young children, now is hitting hardest at persons over 20 and in their late teens, a report by a Maryland medical group indicates.

Dr. J. Edmund Bradley, head of the polio vaccination committee of the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty, said the disease is less of a menace in terms of numbers affected to older individuals but is a very real threat in terms of severity.

Bradley said a difference in age selection also has been noted between urban and rural areas, with there being a higher average age of those attacked in rural areas. "We would expect more cases among young adults in the counties of Maryland than in Baltimore City," he said.

Playhouse 90 Leads Race For TV Emmy

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 17 (AP)—Playhouse 90, CBS' innovation in 90-minute drama, has captured top honors in the race for television's coveted Emmy.

The show won 13 nominations in various categories of the TV academy's ninth annual awards. Following was Kraft Theater with six.

Sparked by Playhouse 90, CBS collected mythical honors with 72 nominations, followed by NBC with 61 and ABC with 14.

The final Emmy awards will be made March 16. The nominations were announced on an NBC color spectacular Saturday night. Little more than a 90-minute variety show, the program was full of stars, though not as many as planned. Reason: Groucho Marx, Ed Sullivan, Lawrence Welk and others were pulled off the show because their auto sponsors objected to their appearing for a rival.

CAIRO, Egypt, Feb. 17 (AP)—Feminist leader Doria Shafik today ended her hunger strike against the "dictatorial regime" in Egypt.

She has gone 11 days without food and her weight fell to 115 pounds, a loss of 17.

Police Arrest 136 At Chicken Fight

LANCASTER, S. C., Feb. 17 (AP)—Police raided a chicken fight staged in an elaborate arena on a farm near here yesterday and collected $1,834 in bonds from 136 persons arrested.

The arrests were the most at any one chicken fight in South Carolina, according to available police records.

Under South Carolina Law, watching a chicken fight is as illegal as staging one. The maximum fine is $100. Bonds posted yesterday ranged from $12 for spectators up to $100 for operators of the pit, ticket takers and gatekeepers.

Lancaster County chief Deputy Sheriff Jesse Adams said the pit was on a farm belonging to E.E. Williams, about 10 miles north of here.

He said an area about 40 by 50 feet was fenced in with an arena complete with lights for night battles, in the center. Two sacks of dead chickens were seized as evidence.

Air Force Orders "Tilt-Wing" Plane

BALTIMORE, Feb. 17 (AP)—The Air Force said today it has awarded a contract to Hiller Helicopters of Palo Alto, Calif., for development of a "tilt-wing" aircraft which will fly like both a conventional plane and a helicopter.

The plane called for in the contract is a transport-size, research aircraft and the project will be directed by the Air Research and Development Command (ARDC) which has headquarters here.

The propeller-driven plane will be capable of vertical takeoff and landing. Although it will have less hovering capabilities than a helicopter it will have greater forward speed, the ARDC said.

Toscanini's Body Flown To Rome

ROME, Feb. 17 (AP)—The maestro came home tonight to rest.

Under a brilliant blue sky, a massive lead and oak casket containing the remains of Arturo Toscanini, lion of Italian music for more than 60 years, was wheeled gently out of the plane which brought it here from New York, where the maestro died Jan. 16 at the age of 89.

Four simple wreaths and 500 silent mourners awaited his return to his beloved homeland.

It was a moving moment. Airport workers wept and a number knelt in prayer as four airport porters maneuvered the heavy, flag-draped casket onto a little trolley to wheel it slowly to a waiting hearse.

There were no speeches, no ceremonies. The casket will reach Milan early tomorrow morning and be placed in the foyer of La Scala Opera House, scene of some of the maestro's most notable triumphs, where it will be on view for friends and admirers to pay their last tributes.

Sun Life, Canada, Reports Record in Policy Payments

'56 new insurance an all-time high; $7 billion now in force; United States business up substantially.

Another all-time record in the history of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, and United States and Canada, the scale that will further reduce the cost of insurance to policyholders, have been announced by George W. Bourke, President at the Company's Annual Meeting. Total new life insurance sold in 1956 amounted to $854 million, largest amount ever sold by Sun Life and an increase of $93 million over the preceding year. A substantial proportion of the new business originated in the United States, where the Sun Life has 37% of its insurance in force. Included in the 1956 figure was $259 million of group insurance, or 30% of the total. Sun Life's insurance in force has now passed the $7 billion mark, also a new high. Policyholders' dividends are again being increased, and in 1957 the Company will pay policy dividends amounting to $31 million, more than in any previous year and $2,700,000 more than the amount paid in 1956.

The Sun Life Report also reveals that $137 million was paid to policyholders and beneficiaries during 1956, the largest amount ever distributed by the Company in one year. Of the total $94 million was paid to living policyholders and annuitants.

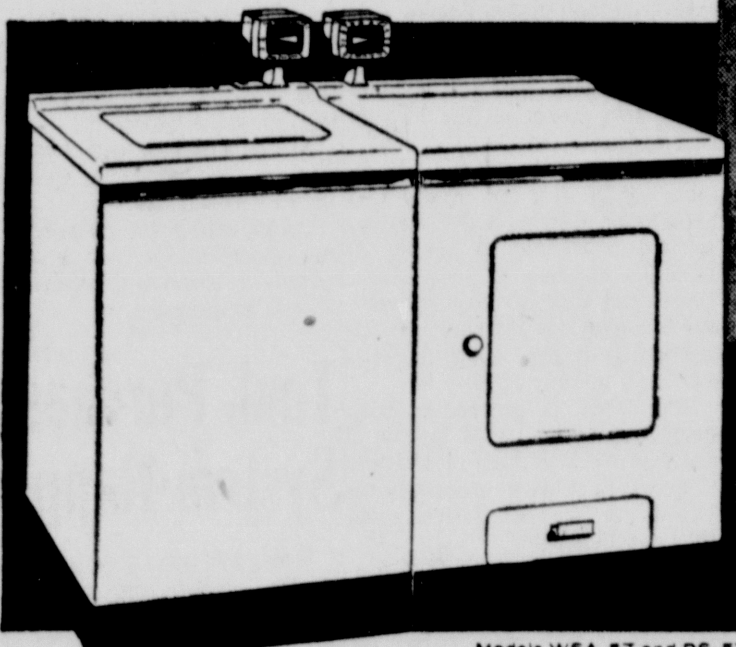

Mr. Bourke pointed out that during 1956, even though tighter credit conditions existed in the United States and Canada, the Sun Life advanced some $89 million in new mortgage loans in the two countries. Thus the Company provided once again a very substantial amount of money for construction of new homes and for expansion of various types of business enterprises. Sun Life's mortgage loan account now stands at $460 million. In his Report to the holders of the Company's two million policies and group certificates, Mr. Bourke expressed the belief that, with the prospect of continued expansion, the volume of new life insurance will continue to grow and that Sun Life's outlook for the future is an optimistic one. "In the highly competitive atmosphere in which we operate," he said, "the Sun Life will continue to be responsive to public needs, and anxious at all times to improve the service we have to offer."

A copy of Sun Life's complete 1956 Annual Report, including the President's review of the year, is being sent to each policyholder. Further details may be obtained from Paul E. Drury, C.L.U., Branch Manager, 1st Floor, Keyser Bldg., Baltimore 2, Md., or J. J. Powell, Group Manager.

Students from high schools in the states of Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and Virginia participated in this event.

Representatives left Mount Savage Thursday afternoon, by car with Alfred Snyder, band director, for Martinsburg. Upon arrival, they were assigned specific homes somewhere in the town where they spent the night.

They were then combined with students from other schools to form a complete band. Under the direction of a clinic director, they practiced some recently published numbers and were given helpful pointers, which will be related to the members of their particular bands when they return home.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 17—(INS)—"Schnozzola," Gene Fowler's book about the one and only Jimmy Durante, has been sold to Mike Curtis, who has been negotiating with Gene for months. Gene will script the story, and Danny Thomas has been invited to play the title role. This isn't the first time that Danny has acted for Mike. Several years ago he scored a hit in "I'll See You in My Dreams," the story of the famous song writer, Gus Kahn. Mike, at the moment, is working hard on "The Helen Morgan Story," but if he finishes his chores in time he will fly to New York to attend Jimmy Durante's testimonial dinner on March 15th. He tells me he believes Danny has the same quality of sweetness that characterizes the Schnozzola. I just cannot think of anyone better to play Mayor Skeffington in "The Last Hurrah" than Spencer Tracy. So I am glad to tell you it looks good for Spencer, who has had several conferences with Director John Ford. The author, Edward O'Connor, is so interested in the casting of his story that he has written Harry Cohn expressing his opinion and ruling out one actor who really wanted to play Skeffington, said to be former Mayor Curley of Boston. Jack Lemmon is all set to play Skeffington's nephew, who figures importantly in the novel.

For some time, Noreen Nash, who in private life is the wife of Dr. Lee Siegel, has been bawling up on medical history. Now she's going to prove what she knows when she goes on the Big Surprise TV show Tuesday night.

"If they'll just ask me about ancient medicine," said Noreen, "I won't be frightened. But there is so much to know about modern medical science that I'm going to study as hard as I can from now until Tuesday."

She told me she sent a clipping of my column about her to the Big Surprise show and that's the way she got this chance. She leaves tonight for New York, speechless with excitement. Hope she does as well as Francis X. Bushman.

I must say Diana Barrymore tells everything in her about-to-be published book. I was sent a proof of Look Magazine for March 5, which publishes her story under the title "I Had Everything But Love."

Having known John Barrymore very well, and her mother, Michael Strange, the story is of great interest. Part of John's advice to Diana was: "Watch the men; watch the drinking; watch everything. I don't say live for your career, but be careful, and work. Work on other plays while you are in the one you are doing. You have excellent actors and actresses here. Work with them, if they'll work with you."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Hot rumor is that Desilu Productions (Desi and Lucy) will take over the RKO lot, which is sadly empty.

CBS, as a surprise to Jack Benny, plans to make a TV film of his testimonial dinner. Now what press agent dreamed this up? Marlon Brando is wearing a surgical mask to keep his Japanese fans away. Oh, Daddy-O!

Barbara Rush telephoned from Atlanta, where she is ballyhoing "Oh Men, Oh Women," that the members of the Georgia Tech football team, with whom she dined, are so cute she'd like to bring all of them home.

My new grandniece, born to Mary and Ed Ettinger, Jr., has been named Valentina. She was born on St. Valentine's Day.

Two very congenial friends are Randolph Hale, producer of "Anniversary Waltz," and Marjorie Lord, star of the same play. Their favorite place to meet is the Wild Goose Restaurant.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:
 ♠ 9 6 2 ♥ K 10 ♦ A 9 5 3 ♣ Q 10 8 2

The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 diamond Pass 2 diamonds Pass
 3 diamonds Pass 7

What do you bid now?
 A.—A bid of three no trump strikes us as a reasonable gamble. Having protection in three suits and maximum raise, you should be willing to risk the spade suit in the quest for the shortest road to game.

Q. 2—As South you hold:
 ♠ J 10 6 ♥ K 10 8 5 4 ♦ Q 6 2 ♣ 9 5

The bidding has proceeded:
 West North East South
 1 club Double Pass 1 heart
 Pass 1 no trump Pass 7

What do you bid now?
 A.—Our vote is for a raise to two no trump. While normally such a raise denotes a holding of eight points or seven points with a five card suit, we choose to raise with a point less than is normally prescribed because partner's hand is apt to be better than a minimum one no trump. A take-out double followed by a bid of one no trump will usually indicate a hand that is slightly better and an ordinary one no trump overall.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
 ♠ K 9 7 ♥ A J 6 4 2 ♦ K 10 3 ♣ 4

The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 club Pass 1 heart
 1 spade Pass 7

What do you bid now?
 A.—While there is a temptation to make the next bid in no trump, there is, unfortunately, no convenient no trump bid available for the hand is just a shade too good for a rebid of one no trump, and yet it is not quite strong enough for a jump to two no trump, which is forcing to game. We suggest a raise to two spades, the normally correct bid in this position. If partner has a four card suit, he presumably has a four card suit. If partner rebids, we will then try three no trump on the next round.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
 ♠ A 9 8 ♥ A J 10 7 5 4 ♦ J A Q 10 2

The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 spade Pass 2 hearts 3 diamonds
 Pass 7

What do you bid now?
 A.—In order to determine the best final contract, a temporary bid is in order and the suggested call is four clubs. If partner returns to four hearts, a further try may be made, if you feel so inclined, in the form of a four spade bid. This will describe a strong hand with a singleton diamond.

Q. 5—As South you hold:
 ♠ A K Q J 9 5 2 ♥ A ♦ A K Q J ♣ 7

The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 heart Pass 2

What do you bid?
 A.—Your first duty is to make a bid which is forcing to game. The only one available is a cue bid of two hearts. Regardless of partner's response, you will then embark on a Blackwood bid to determine the number of aces he holds. A direct overall of five spades might suggest itself, but this may not be interpreted clearly by partner. The suggested method is surer.

Q. 6—Both sides vulnerable.
 You are South and hold:
 ♠ K Q 10 6 2 ♥ 7 ♦ A K 5 3 ♣ J 9 7

The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 heart Pass 2 clubs

What do you bid?
 A.—Double. You should be able to take at least four tricks against a club contract, which, with partner's expected three, will come to a 500 point penalty.

Q. 7—As South you hold:
 ♠ A 4 3 ♥ Q J 9 8 6 2 ♦ 10 2 ♣ 9 5

The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 diamond Pass 2 no trump
 1 no trump Pass 7

What do you bid now?
 A.—Partner has a powerful hand with values distributed in all suits. You may be sure, therefore, that he has some reasonably good heart support, and the proper bid is four hearts. A no trump contract might not work out well if the enemy is able to shut you out of your heart suit.

Q. 8—As South you hold:
 ♠ K Q 8 5 ♥ 5 ♦ A 9 8 6 ♣ K Q 4 3

The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 heart Double Pass North Pass

What is your opening lead?
 A.—The opening lead of a trump is clearly indicated. Your partner by leaving in the double has predicted that your side will win more tricks with hearts as trump than will the opponents. It is, therefore, important not to permit declarer to win tricks with any of his low trumps, and the extracting process must be started at once.

The mature woman may have figure faults that need correction even if she is slim.

Secrets Of Charm
by John Robert Powers

It's usually the very young girl who's so thin she wants to gain weight to round out her figure. But that doesn't mean there aren't plenty of older women who could improve their looks greatly by adding a few extra pounds.

Oddly enough, the older Slim Jane doesn't always realize this. She's so pleased to have kept the scale needle down as the years went by that she isn't aware that her figure isn't the best anymore.

Slenderness is by no means a guarantee of beautiful contours, especially in a mature woman. The trouble often stems from a false idea of what correct weight should be. It isn't always what tables based on averages say. A large-boned frame may look gaunt at the same weight that rounds out a small-boned figure.

We have a booklet we'd like to send you which tells you how to calculate your ideal weight based on your height, your bone structure and your age, as correct weights should be calculated. It's called "How Much Should You Weigh?" and is yours for 10 cents. But that doesn't mean there aren't plenty of older women who could improve their looks greatly by adding a few extra pounds.

Your own correct figuring of your own correct weight may dictate the gain of just the right number of pounds to improve your figure enormously. And then there may well be another important consideration. As you have grown older, your posture may have changed enough — without your being aware of it — to have slipped far from the outline of beauty. Better check with another booklet of ours to make sure of the perfect body alignment which is just as necessary to a beautiful figure as correct weight. This booklet is called "Your Posture" and another 10 cents with your plainly stated request for both booklets will include it with the other.

On The Line
by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, Feb. 17—(INS)—I bear some discouraging tidings about my friend Don Ameche's new Broadway show, "Holiday For Lovers." It is a play without perversion, minus alcoholics, the ref of opium addicts, murder, a torture and delinquency both adult and juvenile.

How it ever got all the way to the Great White Way without a Tennessee Williams element of rancid decay remains one of the mysteries of the season. This one is about an insurance man from Minneapolis and his wife who take an unmarried daughter abroad for the family's first trip to surprise still another daughter sent over two years in advance to study music.

It is a clean, wonderful, wholesome portrait of that increasingly familiar subject, the American traveler who has made best sellers out of travel books and travel agents rich enough to do a bit of traveling themselves.

Ronald Alexander's romantic comedy, staged with swift sureness by Shepard Traube with the gifted assistance of John Robert Lloyd, employs (in addition to Mr. Ameche) some fine players like Carmen Mathews, as his wife, Sandra Church, as the younger of his daughters, Ann Flood as the daughter who has had two great years in Europe, the all but incomparable bullyboy George Mathews, as a brother-in-law, Audrey Christie as Ameche's know-it-all sister and genial other folks. (Later research showed that Genial Other Folks meant some excellent people named Tom Carlin, who plays the Rockefeller Fellow who falls for the younger daughter, Rene Paul, the elder daughter's teacher and a pinchable maid played by Denise Dorin.)

What happens at the Longacre Theatre is what happens to everyone who has (1) traveled and (2) has children. Nobody smokes a reefer, strips or throws a bump, any more than real folks do in real life. This is a fine show for everybody.

Don Ameche makes his first starring role in a non-musical in "Holiday For Lovers." He's just great. This fellow must be up around my age — the middle thirties — but he looks like a boy. But you know when he talks to his stage daughters that he knows what he's talking about. He should. Don and Honey have six children, including a boy in the Navy. "Holiday For Lovers" should run until taxes are declared unconstitutional.

Had a talk the other day with United Airlines Captain Bud Gurney, a good, gray man of 51 who flies one of Pat Patterson's DC-7s from Los Angeles to Honolulu and who has just finished serving as technical director for a film about a friend of his. The film is "The Spirit of St. Louis." The friend is Charles A. Lindbergh. Bud and Slim took their first flight together. Both were frightened. That was back a few years. The pilot was Otto Timm, an old hand who recently reconstructed the planes Lindbergh and Gurney flew during their days of wing-walking, mail-carrying and stunting. At $80,000 each, three copies of the "Spirit of St. Louis" were built, one of them by Al Debono, a modern aviator who flew a propeller plane (Jimmy Stewart's stub-winged F-51) across the country faster than anybody.

Contrary to reports, Lindbergh did not order most of the film re-shot. He was moved emotionally by its authenticity when it was shown to him recently. It is a film without the standard love interest. It ends before he meets Anne Morrow. It was more than two years in the making, cost $6,000,000, and its aerial scenes were shot by Tom Tutweiler, a superb craftsman. Lindbergh and Gurney, re-living adventures of three decades ago, itched to fly the instrumentless planes of their youth—and did.

Bob Gurney said this: When we were kids together we dreamed of 150 miles an hour and 20 passengers. Dreamed! Now my wife makes a dinner date for me before I take off from L. A. to Honolulu, or vice versa, with 80 passengers... and I'm always there when soup's on.

Lifting The Veil On Junketing

Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware wants the Senate Appropriations Committee to make public how much money members of Congress and their aides spend on junkets abroad at government expense. Well, why not?

As the Senator points out, Congress has a natural and laudable curiosity about the spending by the Executive Branch of government. "We would be in a better position to demand full disclosure" of their activities, he says, "by disclosing information governing our own expenditures."

There's no doubt about that. And there's no doubt that whatever his fellow lawmakers may think, Senator Williams is not setting out deliberately to embarrass them or to keep them from taking those pleasant trips abroad. He's out to lift the veil of secrecy that encourages waste.

Although Senator Williams has never been on an overseas junket himself, he admits freely that they have their useful and instructive side. What he does object to is the shameless free loading that is frequently indulged in because there is no adequate public report on such spending.

As an example, he cites two women members of the staff of the Appropriations Committee who took an around-the-world tour on counterpart funds and were never asked to make an accounting. They have since been fired.

"I do think," said Senator Williams, "the American taxpayer is entitled to know what is being done with his money . . . The fact that any expenditure . . . is going to be subject to public scrutiny will be in itself a deterrent to misuse."

The beleaguered taxpayer will say amen to that.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky
Death On First Avenue

Dr. Joza Brijel, Yugoslav Ambassador to the United Nations, was blithely driving his car west on 66th Street in New York. He went through a red light; he "bumped into" another car; he went up on the sidewalk, killed Mrs. Ruth La Bartunek who was gently minding her own business but who was pinned against a building by this Yugoslav Ambassador's car which he was driving.

Dr. Brijel was quite sorry and sent some emissaries to the La Bartunek family to ask if he could contribute to the funeral expenses. Beyond that he had no responsibility because he is entitled to diplomatic immunity by which is meant that he lives in our midst under extraterritoriality and is not subject to our laws.

It is legal for him and for a few hundred other people connected with the United Nations to go through red lights. The police cannot arrest him because he has diplomatic immunity. He can bump into another car and damage it but nothing can be done about that; he cannot even be sued for damages because he is not subject to our laws. He can kill a woman, a mother of five children, but he cannot be arrested for murder or for reckless driving; the police may not investigate whether he was drunk or sober when he lost control of his car; the police may not even inquire as to whether he had a license to drive a car. He is a big shot, an Ambassador and enjoys extraterritoriality which includes the right to kill a woman going into a grocery store.

Of course, a man may be a diplomat and a gentleman, too. That has happened. Such a person would obey the traffic regulations of the place where he happened to be stationed because a gentleman does not take advantage of his position. But it is too much to expect of the folks who have been thrown into high position by war and revolution that they would even know the meaning of noblesse oblige. So they go through red lights. They park their cars in front of fire hydrants. They double park and triple park to the inconvenience of tax-paying Americans and now one has actually run down and killed an American woman. He killed her on a sidewalk as she was walking into a store.

It is an easy-going, soft people that takes that sort of thing lying down. There was a time when Americans were less refined and somebody's fist would have settled this question of diplomatic immunity. What happens to all these heroes in our Westerns which millions follow every day on television, these heroic characters who protect womanhood and motherhood and virtue? Do they not inculcate a sense of obligation to stand up for what is right? Or must we let these frisky Ambassadors imperil our wives and children while they break every traffic law with cars bearing DPL license plates? DPL, indeed!

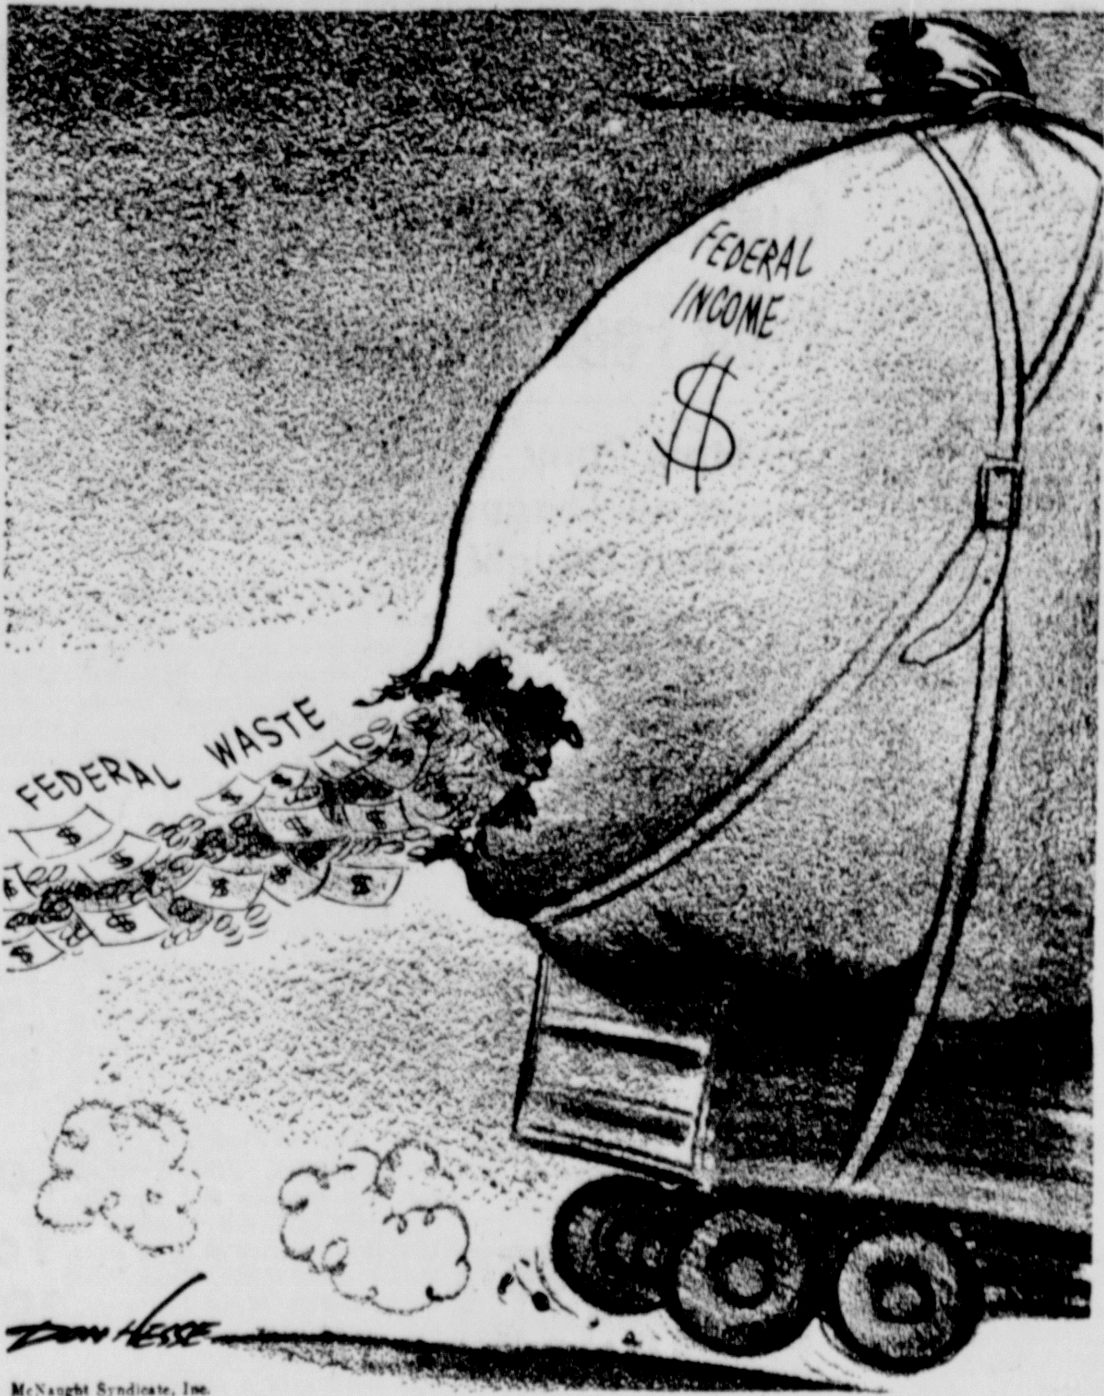

The least the State Department can do is to notify the Yugoslav Ambassador that the streets of New York City are closed to him. He can remain in the United Nations building as long as Tito wants to keep him there, but he has committed a homicide on New York streets and the streets are closed to him. Of course, the State Department will do no such thing because its personnel is made up of diplomats who do not speak rudely to diplomats and who believe in extraterritoriality because when they go to other countries, they live by it.

But Tito did not always practise it and as I recall, when our Ambassador to Yugoslavia was Richard C. Patterson, Jr., Tito was rude to him and to his lovely wife and nobody made much of a fuss about that because, I presume, it was expected that Tito would be rude. That was before Tito was kicked out of the Cominform by Stalin and turned his face westward to get a cool billion of the American taxpayers' dollars.

May I suggest to Senator Green and Representative Gordon of the Senate and House Committees dealing with foreign affairs that they might hold public hearings into the misconduct of foreign officials in New York. They would get an earful and the public would discover that when the striped pants come off, some of these fellows are no better than they were before the revolution.

Western Siberia Traveler Gets Surprises

By Joseph Alsop

THE VIRGIN LANDS

AKMOLINSK — The traveler in western Siberia must be prepared for surprises. Some of them, such as the surprise of open plumbings openly arrived at with the thermometer at forty degrees below zero, are even reasonably severe.

None the less, no surprise has been quite on the level of the surprise produced by the first sight of the Siberian version of the carefree trailer life. There it was, parked outside the primitive but cozy hotel. It was composed of a heavy tractor, coupled to a sledge piled high with drums of Diesel and all sorts of spare parts, coupled to a second sledge on which was built a small wooden hut, complete with tiny windows and a stovepipe.

Vodka-Inspired Song
From the hut, sounds of happy, vodka-inspired Russian song drifted into the icy night. In the cab of the tractor, a youngish man bundled up in the black wadded cotton Siberian winter uniform was making some sort of repair by the flickering light of a lamp. On being asked about himself and his strange tractor-trailer, he replied with cheerful unconcern:

"Why, we needed some spare parts to finish our winter machinery, repairs at our Kholkhov, so the chairman sent me and my buddies into town. There's no other way to get here except by tractor. My buddies have got pretty tight but after all we're starting back to the Kholkhov next morning; it's a good five days trip even if we're lucky, and although the hut's warm enough, the trip isn't all that comfortable. If I didn't have to drive the tractor, I'd have a few farewell nips myself."

That will give at least some inkling of the long winter solitude that must be accepted by the tens of thousands of people who have come to this region to plow its virgin lands. Yet this enforced hibernation is still not the most fantastic feature of the virgin lands program which had had weather-failure in 1955, and then gave the Soviet Union a splendidly plentiful harvest last year.

The total of formerly virgin land to be plowed this year will reach nearly 90 million acres—or only a bit less than one third of the entire area of plowed land in the United States. Here in the province of Akmolinsk alone, the expansion of the collective farms and the establishment of new state-owned farms has already brought the plow to considerably more than nine million acres of immemorial steppes.

80,000 New Workers
Around 80,000 new farm workers have come into the province with their families. The collective farms have invested 200 million rubles in their expansion. The state has put in another 300 million rubles into the motor tractor stations that provide the collective farms with their major mechanical equipment. In the new state-owned farms, where the work started from scratch, the investment so far is no less than one billion rubles; and the total investment will eventually reach two billion six hundred million rubles.

Thus is this single province, if you calculate the ruble at the relatively realistic rate of ten to one, the total investment will be considerably more than 300 million dollars. And the investment for all the virgin lands will

Secretary Wilson's Son Refuses To Explain His Own War Record

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Defense Wilson, who accused the National Guard of draft-dodging, might well have remembered the old adage: "He who lives in glass houses should not throw stones." One of his sons, Edward E. Wilson, has just refused to answer direct questions about his own wartime record.

Having received reports from his neighbors that young Wilson had purchased a Michigan farm in order to be classified as a farmer during World War II, I asked my junior partner, Jack Anderson, to call Wilson and get his side of the story.

Edward Wilson finally came on the telephone in Birmingham, Mich., and immediately protested against taking a call from a newspaperman. He said he had taken the call by mistake.

"I have some questions to ask you about your war record," Anderson explained. "How or whether you answer them is up to you. Did you get a draft deferment as a farmer?"

"Why don't you talk to my former neighbors around Almont?" Wilson replied. "They'll give you the facts."

"We have already talked to them," Anderson said. "If you're willing for us to publish their version we would be glad to, but Mr. Pearson thought it was only fair to get your side of the story."

Anderson then repeated the direct question: "Did you get a farm deferment during the war?"

"I have no way to answer it except to say it is not so; it is quite ridiculous," Wilson insisted.

Anderson then started to ask specifically what his draft status was, but Wilson interrupted.

Refuses Questions
"I will not answer questions," he said firmly. "I don't have to justify myself."

He turned the questioning back at Anderson.

"How old are you?" he asked.

"Thirty-four," Anderson replied.

"I'm a year older than that and have a wife and family," Wilson observed, not indicating what that proved.

"What is your present work?" Anderson persisted.

"I'm an auto dealer."

"Were you a farmer during World War II?" Anderson asked a second time.

"Don't crowd me now," young Wilson warned. "Would you answer these questions if they were put to you?"

Anderson replied that he certainly would. "I'm sorry to have to ask them," he explained, "but if I were you, I would answer them."

"How low do you have to stoop to sell papers?" snapped the son of the Secretary of Defense.

"I have to ask these questions, and you can suit yourself about answering them," Anderson repeated. He then asked once again: "Was it a fact that you were a farmer in World War II?"

"I like being a farmer," Wilson retorted. "Ask Mr. Pearson what's wrong with being a farmer."

"I thought you told me you were an auto dealer."

"I am both a farmer and an auto dealer."

He thereupon ended the interview.

Officials confirm
Following this, an official query was placed with the Defense Department as follows:

"Since Secretary of Defense Wilson has called the National Guard a draft-dodging agency, we want to know whether Edward E. Wilson was deferred as a farmer during World War II, and how long he continued to be a farmer after the war. Is he now an auto dealer?"

Retail Stores

By Roger Babson

BABSON PARK, Mass. — I am concerned about the fate of the independent retailer in today's highly competitive markets. He is not keeping pace with chain store operators who spend large sums of money on new equipment, new lighting, intensive advertising and promotion.

Costs Have Skyrocketed

Independent merchants must pay just as much as the large chain operators for advertising space in newspapers and magazines. Often they must pay more proportionately for goods they stock because they cannot buy in such large quantities as the chains. Also, independent retailers are faced with increasing demands for higher employee wages and greater fringe benefits after these concessions are obtained initially by employees of big stores. Too many independent retailers have already succumbed to these pressures.

These chains have helped mightily, however, in bringing down the total cost of distribution. Their savings in buying, in window dressing and display, they share with their customers. They have made and are making a great contribution to the betterment of the American way of life.

What Retailers Can Do

The independent merchant who prefers waiting on customers to waiting for his turn at golf has little to worry about. There always will be a demand for this personal attention on the part of certain customers. They are willing to pay for this personal attention as well as for credit and delivery. Of course, the independent merchant must be willing to advertise and secure a good location with plenty of show window, always kept attractive. To believe, however, that he is destined to be pushed out of business by department stores or chain stores or mail order houses is a mistaken idea.

Retailers can further be helped by the plans of the United Information Service, with headquarters at 6 Maiden Lane, New York City.

This service enables consumers to learn quickly (any time between 6 a. m. and midnight) where they can get any desired merchandise. This shortens the

The query was written down by a Defense Department spokesman, verbatim. A few hours later the Defense Department replied that we should talk to young Wilson. Informed that we had already talked to him and that he had declined to make any clear statement, the Defense Department spokesman said that Secretary Wilson was out of the city and that they couldn't get the information.

"This is an official inquiry," he was told, "and I think we're entitled to an answer."

Later the Defense Department called back to suggest that we contact Selective Service.

At Selective Service it was stated that young Wilson's draft record was not in Washington, it was back in Michigan.

A call to Michigan finally got results. The Selective Service office in Michigan confirmed that a man named Edward Eberett Wilson, who gave as his address "care of Charles E. Wilson," received a farm deferment. He had registered Feb. 19, 1942 as self-employed. He did not then give his occupation as a farmer. In July 1942 he was given a deferment on the ground of having dependents, but by July 3, 1943 Selective Service no longer deferred men because of dependents alone. Meanwhile, Wilson had acquired a farm and was classified 3A—men with dependents living on a farm.

By April 1944 this deferment was abolished. But Wilson still escaped service. He was classified 2C, the deferment given to men working at essential farming. The records also showed that Wilson appeared in November 1944 and March 1945 to ask for the continuation of his classification and deferment. Thus he couldn't have been unaware of his draft status.

Yet in answering Mr. Anderson's question, "Did you get a draft deferment as a farmer?" Wilson baldly replied, "It is not so; it is quite ridiculous."

Note — Secretary Wilson does not list any war or service record for himself in his Who's Who biographical sketch. He was with Westinghouse Electric all through World War I and with General Motors through World War II.

Neuroses And Psychoses Of Advancing Age

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

When Grandpa goes berserk, don't blame his hardened arteries. There is a 50-50 chance that he has developed a neurosis or a psychosis that has no relationship to the circulation of the brain. Marked deterioration of the brain, especially after stroke and in extreme senility, is a different proposition.

Several years ago a group of Californians compared at autopsy the brains of aged persons who had become mentally incompetent with the brains of an equal number of mentally sound oldsters. No correlation was found between the condition of the arteries and personality disturbances. This simply means that our senior citizens react to stress, anxiety, and frustration in much the same way as the young and middle aged.

Another study disclosed that psychiatric disturbances in the aged are not necessarily related to the emotional status of the individual at the prime of life. This would seem to indicate that those who had a mental disorder in earlier years are not more likely to be plagued by the same condition in later life.

A neurosis in an older man or woman usually stems from the problems of aging. These old-timers become tense, nervous or depressed. New interests and sources of satisfaction bring improvement and so will the tranquilizing drugs.

The situation is more serious when a psychotic depression develops. Associated with the mood change is loss of appetite and feelings of hopelessness and despondency. The old gentleman is tearful, stares into space, does not eat, and cannot sleep.

He claims to be a burden to his family and life offers nothing for him. He is so pre-occupied with his internal feelings he is inattentive to those about him and may be regarded as having lost his memory. This type of mental condition requires sanitarium care and shock therapy.

More severe symptoms of senility usually accompany marked deterioration of the brain. Many of these individuals have had large or small strokes. They are careless about personal habits, irritable, and suspicious. Drugs such as nicotinic acid, metrazol, and chlorpromazine help most.

OLD STOMACH

H. B. H. writes: When I was young I had a stomach my family used to refer to as a garbage can. It never occurred to me to peel an apple and I even ate the core. Now, approaching 70, my stomach has failed me and I have to eat bland foods. Is it possible that a stomach grows old, too?

REPLY

Yes. Be thankful it held up as long as it did, all these years. Meanwhile, investigate the cause of your indigestion.

WHEN DOC IS ILL

V. T. writes: When a doctor becomes ill, does he diagnose and treat himself or call in another doctor?

REPLY

The physician usually treats his own minor ailments but relies upon a colleague should more serious illness develop. There's an old saying that a person who treats himself has a fool for a doctor.

BROKEN VEINS

C. L. writes: What is the cause of ruptured capillaries in the face and legs.

REPLY

In many instances the cause cannot be found; in others, injury is a factor. Our leaflet on spider veins discusses the condition; it can be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

TOMORROW: Brucellosis, or undulant fever.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual cases.

The usually torrid Gold Coast of Africa reports it is "suffering" a cold wave with the temperature down to 62. This proves again that it's often just a matter of viewpoint.

Statistics show the number of whales is decreasing rapidly. That should give the little fish a lot more ocean-room.

Hebert Beats Out Ed Furgol In Texas Open

Wins By Stroke, 271 Nets $2,800

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 17 (AP)—Slender Jay Hebert, 34-year-old veteran of the golf tour from Sanford, Fla., rammed a 6-foot birdie putt on the final green today to beat out Ed Furgol of St. Andrews, Ill., for first money in the $20,000 Texas Open.

Hebert made one of the great shots of Texas Open history to escape with a par on the sixteenth hole when he had landed his tee shot on another green. He finished with a 4-under-par 67 in a cold drizzle. It gave him 271 for 72 holes and a 1-stroke decision over Furgol, who ended up with a 68 for 72.

It was Hebert's second tournament victory of the winter, and gave him $2,800 in first place money. He also won the Bing Crosby tournament.

Jimmie Demaret of Klamath Lake, N.Y., who started today's final round leading the field by two strokes with 202 for 54 holes, soared to a 3-over-par 74 today and finished in a tie for sixth place.

Furgol won second money of $1,900.

Finishing in a third place tie at 274 were Tony Holguin of Midlothian, Ill., and Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa.

Basilio Is 3-1 Choice To Beat Saxton Friday

The Associated Press

Welterweight champion Carmen Basilio is a 3-1 favorite to whip ex-champion Johnny Saxton at Cleveland Friday night in their third battle for the 147-pound title.

The 29-year-old ruler from Chittenden, N.Y., has been made the solid choice on the strength of his ninth round technical knockout over Saxton at Syracuse, N.Y., Sept. 12 when Carmen regained the crown. Saxton had taken the title from Basilio on a disputed 15-round decision at Chicago last March.

They originally had been scheduled to scrap in the "rubber" match Jan. 18 but the bout was postponed when Basilio injured his right hand in training.

The 15-rounder will be broadcast and telecast (CBS 10 p.m. EST) coast to coast.

Other fights listed this week are as follows:

TONIGHT - Paddy DeMarco vs. Stefan Redi, of Passaic, N. J., at St. Nicholas Arena, New York. Telecast by DuMont, 10:30 EST.
TONIGHT - Gene Fullmer, middleweight champion, vs. Ernie Durando, Bayonne, N. J., in non-title match at Denver, Colo. No telecast.

County Youths Prepare For Model Assembly

Nine Bills Titled At Frostburg Session

Allegany County delegates to the Maryland Youth Legislature yesterday had nine bills "titled" for introduction at the model assembly to be held in April at Annapolis.

The measures were outlined at a meeting of the county Hi-Y Council of Central YMCA at Frostburg Methodist Church, Miss Barbara Mann, president, was in charge of the meeting.

The Western Maryland area has been designated Zone 4 with Cumberland as the hub of the zone in a break-down of the state's youthful delegations. Lawrence H. Dehn, program chairman of Central YMCA here, explained.

Has 38 Delegates

The county group will have 38 delegates who have been designated to attend the Model Legislature and its pre-assembly conference at College Park on March 9.

The purpose of yesterday's meeting by the Hi-Y Council was to screen all acts of legislation before presentation at the model assembly to prevent duplication and counter-proposals. Of the legislation "titled" yesterday only two measures had bearing on one another.

The bills included:

- 1—an act to establish a second mental health hospital for Maryland and to improve conditions of the present hospital.
- 2—an act to lower the voting age of state residents to 18 years.
- 3—an act to require a course in Maryland history in all state high school curricula.

Prevent Water Pollution

- 4—an act to require auto liability insurance on all vehicles in Maryland.
- 5—an act to prevent water pollution in rivers and streams in the state.
- 6—an act to develop a standard type of examination for all recent examinations in high schools.
- 7—an act to require all licensed operators of motor vehicles in Maryland to take drivers' examinations every 5 years.
- 8—an act to require examinations of all motor vehicles in the state every three years.
- 9—an act to make it mandatory for all cities, counties and towns in Maryland to use voting machines.

Illustrated Talk

Final registration forms for the delegates were turned in and plans were made to attend the College Park meeting in two weeks.

Another portion of yesterday's program was an illustrated talk on YMCAs in Japan by Air Force Lt. and Mrs. Peter Creamer. The couple showed colored slides and spoke of an instructive YMCA school in Sopora, a northern island of Japan.

Mrs. Creamer is the former Sylvia Godsey of Frostburg.

The 75 members of the county Hi-Y made plans to meet again on March 17 at the First Presbyterian Church in Lonaconing.

Mr. Dehn said last night that it was compulsory that all legislators and delegates in Zone 4 have their bills written and returned to him at Central YMCA by Saturday.

Robert Leo Riden, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Riden, Keyser, enlisted as a Naval Airman recruit.

Woodrow Harrison Mangold, 18, of RFD No. 2, Keyser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burt H. Mangold; Ronald Martin Steele, 17, Homewood Addition, city, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mildred C. Steele; and Albert Louis Martin, 18, of Keyser, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas Martin, all enlisted as seaman recruits.

Red Cross First Aid Class Passes Tests

Under the new First Aid program of Allegany County Chapter American Red Cross, a class of 29 volunteers at Kingsley Methodist Church is the first to complete the training and to graduate. In one of several final demonstrations instructors, Mrs. Virginia Lasher and Mrs. Virginia Hartman are seen

Seven Persons Hurt In Two Auto Mishaps

Seven persons were injured, none seriously, in two separate automobile accidents Saturday in West Virginia.

State Trooper J. L. Martin, who is investigating both mishaps, said all seven were admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital but that four were released yesterday. He added that he had not been able to identify all the victims.

Two men were injured when their automobile struck an embankment on U. S. Route 50 near Augusta, W. Va., Saturday about 3:50 p. m. The vehicle upset, Trooper Martin said, and the driver, Charles E. Arnot of Baltimore, and a passenger were admitted to the hospital. They suffered lacerations of the head.

About 7:30 p. m. Saturday, two cars collided head-on on the dangerous double S curve on Cooper Mountain 21 miles east of Romney.

James L. Reeser, 24, of Baltimore, was identified as the driver of one automobile. He and two other Baltimoreans, Edward C. die, owner of the car, and Joseph Summers, were admitted to the hospital but were released yesterday. The other vehicle was driven by Mrs. Bessie G. Omph, Bloomery, W. Va. She and another passenger were also hurt.

Trooper Martin said Reeser would face motor vehicle charges as the investigation indicated the Reeser car was on the wrong side of the road at the time of the collision.

Red Cross Needs Furniture For Victims Of Fire

The Red Cross is making a public appeal for furniture, household utensils and clothing. Mrs. George W. Legge, executive secretary said last night, for the family of Mr. and Mrs. Donald May.

The family suffered the loss of their four-room dwelling and all their possessions early Saturday morning, when flames swept the Hinkle Road property.

Mrs. May had her hair singed while escaping the flames. Her husband and four children were uninjured.

Mrs. Legge said residents who have furniture, household utensils and clothing to donate to the family and help them become established, should telephone the Red Cross office, PA 2-2353, or PA 2-1760.

Today's Sermonette

The Pursuit Of Truth

By Dr. E. E. MILLER

Among the many sayings of Jesus there is none more arresting than the words, "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free." (John 8:32)

Man is an inquisitive creature with an insatiable thirst for knowledge. The consuming desire to know the truth drives him in search of the hidden mysteries about life and the world in which he lives. He believes what Jesus said, "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free," and is willing to pay the price to know the truth and be free—free from superstition and fear that have retarded the progress of mankind's upward march.

In the pursuit of truth it is necessary that we have open minds. Dr. Daniel Russell says: "The closed mind is the mother of narrowness and meanness. The open mind enables us to receive

Teen-Age Drivers Club To Elect Officers Tonight

The Cumberland Teen-Age Drivers Club will hold election and installation of officers at its semi-monthly meeting tonight at 7 o'clock at Teeland on North Centre Street.

A slate of officers for president, vice president, secretary and treasurer has been nominated for the coming term for the club which features safe driving habits in its program.

Most of the nominees for office are from Allegany and Fort Hill High Schools as Beall High members of the organization have disqualified themselves for leadership. This action was taken as the Frostburg members indicate they plan to form a club in Frostburg.

Also scheduled on tonight's program is a film, "Your Permit To Drive," the first of a series of films which the local group has scheduled for showing at its meetings. It is part of the club's program to provide information on safe driving practices to all teen-agers in Cumberland.

A Baltimore TV station's program director has contacted Lynn Walker, adult advisor for the club, to learn objectives and program activity of the Cumberland group, and further correspondence will be held with the Baltimore concern.

The local group, organized and operated by teen-agers for their benefit, welcomes all interested teen-age persons in the Cumberland area to attend tonight's meeting.

Service Officer Plans Visits Today

Thomas G. Kilduff, assistant state service officer of the Maryland Veterans Commission, will visit Westport and Frostburg today, to assist veterans and their dependents with various claims and problems.

Mr. Kilduff will be at the Bureau of Mines office in Westport from 10 a. m. until noon today, and then will go to the Frostburg City Hall from 1 p. m. until 4 o'clock.

The service officer assists veteran and their dependents with government insurance claims, pensions, guardianship accounts, and all other matters pertaining to veterans benefits.

The Cumberland office, located in the County Building on Union Street, is open daily, Monday through Friday, from 9 a. m. until 4:30 p. m.

Rotary Club To Meet

The Cumberland Rotary Club will hold its luncheon meeting tomorrow at 12:15 p. m. at Central YMCA.

Government Asks Lease On Office Quarters Here

Bids for leasing office quarters in or near the central business section of Cumberland are being asked by General Services Administration of the government.

The bids will be opened after February 21 at 11 a. m. in Washington, D. C.

Needed are office quarters for an unspecified government activity to provide from 1,530 to 6,680 net usable square feet of floor space.

Air conditioned quarters on the first floor are preferred, and the successful bidder must prepare the quarters for occupancy.

A set of bidder's forms is available for those interested at the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce office.

Area Training Session Slated

Work unit conservationists of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service in the four Western Maryland counties will attend a two-day in-service training meeting in woodland conservation Tuesday and Wednesday at the SCS office on Washington Street.

William W. Nace, work unit conservationist for Garrett County, will conduct the program, which will run from 10 a. m. until 4 p. m. both days. Marion B. Fussell, state soil conservationist for the SCS, who will attend the sessions here, reports that many conservationists have neglected the woodland phase of the SCS program because of lack of understanding as to how they could talk woodland with the farmer without talking forestry.

While in the county, the SCS employees will visit farm woodlots at the Walter White farm on Bedford Road, at the Arthur J. Fitch farm on Mason Road and at the Mt. Calvary Cemetery property between Mason and Mt. Pleasant roads.

Besides Nace others attending the sessions will include Paul A. Anderson of Washington County, George T. Swartz of Frederick County, Martin M. Gordon and Stuart Delbrook of Allegany County.

Hearing Is Planned On Voting Age Bill

Delegate Lloyd L. Simpkins, chairman of the Judiciary Committee of the House of Delegates, has announced his committee will conduct a hearing in Annapolis February 26 at 10:30 a. m. on House Bill 44 introduced by Delegate George R. Hughes Jr., minority floor leader. The bill lowers the voting age in this state from 21 to 18 years of age.

Housing Authority Acquires Property

The Cumberland Housing Authority has acquired another property at the southwest corner of Thomas Street and Blacks Alley for the proposed third local housing project.

Deed for the property was filed for record Friday in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court. Charles F. Davis and Vera B. Davis sold the property.

Legislators Believe Tax Hike Unneeded

Teacher Pay Raise Would Boost Rate

HAGERSTOWN, Feb. 17 (AP)—Maryland legislative leaders today raised the possibility of balancing Gov. McKeldin's budget without a general tax increase.

At the same time, however, they told a news gathering here that if the General Assembly approves a pay raise for school teachers, it will have to be accompanied by a tax bill.

The fiscal questions came up as leaders of the Senate and House attended the Chesapeake AP News Workshop with newspaper representatives from throughout the state.

Cuts To Be Made

Del. Boone (D-Balto County), chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee, predicted flatly that cuts would be made in Gov. McKeldin's 363-million-dollar budget and that revenue estimates would be asked to take another look at the state's anticipated income for next year. He indicated a combination of the two could possibly close the seven-million-dollar gap between proposed expenditures and expected income.

Senate President Goldstein (D-Calvert) started the discussion rolling by saying:

"I don't believe any new taxes will be required to balance the budget. Present revenue estimates are way too low."

Turnbull Doesn't Agree

Sen. Turnbull (D-Balto County), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, did not agree entirely with his co-leader.

"Obviously we're hopeful that can be done," Turnbull said with a degree of caution.

All three legislators said they have notified backers of teacher pay increases that such measures cannot be enacted without some form of tax increase.

They indicated sponsors of pay increase legislation should be willing to put their names on tax bills to finance it.

There is a general impression at Annapolis that the Assembly will grant teachers some form of pay increase this session although probably not the $900 annual boost they are seeking.

Former Democratic Gov. William Preston Lane Jr., publisher of the Hagerstown Herald-Mail, brought a roar of laughter with a very brief comment on the budget problem.

Lane Brings Laughter

Lane, who was defeated by McKeldin in a 1950 election in which Lane's 2 per cent sales tax proposal was bitterly assailed, said he had not seen the new budget until last Monday.

"I was struck by the size of it," Lane said. "Maybe you had to have pennies for Lane, but you've got to have dollars for McKeldin."

Other legislative guests included House Speaker Luber (D-Balto 5th); Sen. Phoebe (R-Somerset), Senate minority leader, and Sen. Monroe (R-Charles), newly nominated motor vehicles commissioner.

McCardell Heads Newsmen

Other guests were Col. Elmer F. Munshower, superintendent of state police; Maj. William H. Weber, field force commander for state police, and Dr. Perry Prather, director of the State Health Department.

The workshop elected Lee McCardell, assistant managing editor of the Baltimore Evening Sun, as its new president, succeeding Vernon Davis of the Hagerstown Morning Herald. Charles Pultenbarger of the Washington Evening Star was named vice president and Jack Davis, news editor of the Associated Press in Baltimore, was reelected secretary.

Condition 'Unchanged'

Attendants of Miners Hospital in Frostburg said last night that the condition of Mrs. Idelle Stevens, 64, of Frostburg, who was injured Wednesday when struck by an automobile remains "unchanged and still critical."

AWOL Marine Held

Jack Hardesty, Oakland Marine, is being held in the City Jail after being picked up by a local recruiting sergeant on a charge of being AWOL. He will be taken to his base by military authorities today.

GOP Committee To Meet Today On Appointments

James S. Getty, chairman of the Allegany County Republican Committee, last night announced that the important meeting for recommendations for the numerous political appointments in the county will be held today.

The meeting, twice postponed, will conclude the recommendations that the committee must place in the hands of State Senator Charles M. See by Wednesday.

Mr. Getty added, however, he is not yet certain of the time and site for meeting, saying only that he will contact the members of the committee this morning to arrange the final details.

Senior Scouts Plan Displays At Dinner Meet

Weekend Is Slated At New Camp Site

The Senior Girl Scout Planning Board, at a meeting in the Girl Scout House, worked out arrangements for the annual Parent-Daughter dinner, a camping weekend and discussed other projected activities.

The girls propose to arrange four large exhibits at the dinner representing the four phases of scouting. Troop No. 12 was designated to design the exhibits on "Adventuring in the Arts" and "Citizens Here and Abroad." Troop No. 15 will make the exhibits on "You and Your Home" and "Fun in the Out-of-Doors." A birthday ceremony as part of the program will be performed by the Senior Scouts.

Several of the girls are making official Girl Scout skirts as part of the scout uniforms, so that all Senior Scouts participating will be in complete uniform for the occasion.

A weekend at the new camp site near Flintstone was planned for May 3, 4 and 5, with several details to be completed at the meeting of the Board Wednesday, March 6, at 3:30 p. m.

The Counselor-in-Training Course to be given at camp this summer was discussed and also the requirements for eligibility of Senior Scouts attending the National Girl Scout Convention in Philadelphia this fall.

Present at the planning meeting were Patty Sheets, Mary Ellen Helmick, Kathleen Neely, Mary Margaret Barnard, and Mrs. Henry Robb, Senior advisor.

County Residents Put Quarter Million In US Savings Bonds

Allegany County residents have purchased a total of $256,363 in series E and H savings bonds thus far this year, according to figures released by the United States Treasury Department.

The county's quota for 1957 is $2,760,000. The county, for its January sales, realized 9.3 per cent of quota, ranked 11th in the state on a percentage basis, but ranks fourth in dollar volume compared with other counties.

Total sales in Maryland in January were $5,891,141. Total quota for the year is $64,900,000.

Garrett County investors bought $30,560 in bonds in January and Washington County bought $261,434.

VFW Drum Corps Is Reorganized

Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, is reorganizing its Drum and Bugle Corps, according to Guy Smith, commander.

He said drummers are needed to complete the organization which will hold a rehearsal Friday at 8 p. m. at the post home here.

The corps is being organized by Harry Reiber.

Clinic Is Planned

The Health Department will hold a child health clinic today at 9:30 a. m. in City Hall.

Heart Sunday Leaders Are Appointed

Neighborhood Units Being Organized

Heart Sunday, February 24, is being organized so that every home in the county will be visited by a volunteer to raise funds for the annual Heart Fund campaign. Mrs. Ralph C. Isiminger, Heart Sunday chairman said yesterday.

Committees have been completed, all neighborhood and area captains, chairmen and co-chairmen have been appointed and volunteers in every section are being recruited.

The central clearing house or pick up headquarters for Heart Sunday will be the business office of the Times-News. Morgan C. Smith, campaign treasurer, said arrangements have been made with the cooperation of the Times and Alleganyan Company to use the business office on Heart Sunday.

Mr. Smith pointed out that the office is on the street floor, is centrally located and is equipped with coin counting and wrapping machines, adding machines, telephones and all other items needed for rapid and efficient reporting.

To Make Reports

In outlying and neighborhood areas, captains will use their homes or some other central point in the neighborhood as headquarters. As volunteers complete their rounds, they will report to neighborhood headquarters. A final report for each neighborhood will then be made at the Times-News office, and a tabulation quickly compiled.

Areas out in the county will make their own tabulations and telephone them to the Times-News Heart headquarters for inclusion in the county report, Mr. Smith explained.

Mrs. Isiminger noted that chairmen have been named in the city and immediate area as follows:

Mrs. Isiminger said chairmen and co-chairmen have been advised to submit their complete lists of volunteers as quickly as they are completed, so all can be identified prior to Heart Sunday.

In the meantime, other units of the campaign have been working steadily on the drive for $16,015. William A. Wilson, county chairman, has named leaders in each community and several have reported their Heart Sunday volunteers ready to go.

Vernon C. Crable, chairman of plastic heart coin containers, reports that members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Legion have placed several hundred hearts about the county and will collect them after the drive is over.
